

SPIRIT COMPANY

Welcome to the website of Spirit Company!

Spirit Company is a Dutch company that was founded in 2000 to bring contemporary shamanism fused with western psychological insights to people, companies and organizations. The founder Jos Kester was trained at the School of Shamanism, in which he also served the school board for 10 years, including four years as chairman. He is the father of three daughters and a son. He lives and works with Anissa Brinkley, an American woman - as she writes, "by the constant flow of the river of life I found myself here in a place they call the Netherlands."

Working from the old traditions reminds us daily of the universal law of the wheel of life, where everything flows, everything is welcome and where everyone has a place. We want to share this ancient wisdom with you. We want to reawaken this wisdom and bring it back to this time. We do this with the resources that we have been given by our teachers, our parents and Great Mystery, such as Native Americans call God. These means are the old shamanic techniques and ceremonies, but also our ancestors, of which we can see their bonfires in the night sky, the mist lingering over pastures, the four winds and the spiritual forces of heaven and earth. This ancient wisdom and knowledge can give you insight in who you really are, where you stand in your life and what your qualities are. The encounter with these forces you will take to 'all your relations'. The origin of our work lies in the old (Indian) traditions. These old traditions help us recover our own spiritual nature, ancestors and Mother Earth in which we are inextricably linked. We respectfully use this ancient wisdom in recognizing that the Native Americans, despite great opposition, have preserved and imparted it for the benefit of all.

Unfortunately we have no translations for every page on this site. Please contact us if you want further information via: info@spiritcompany.org